FORTIETH YEAR NO. 49

TWENTY MILLIONTH FORD CAR TO REACH BAY ST. LOUIS THIS FRIDAY

Car Symbolic of One Man's Contribution to the Development of American Industry—Car to Be Received Here By Edwards Bros.

The Twenty Millionth Ford car symbolic of one man's contribution to the development of American industry, will arrive in Bay St. Louis, Miss., on Friday, December 4, to spend one night in the course of its countrywide tour.

Arrangements have been made by the Edwards Bros., local Ford Agency, for an escort to meet the famous car and accompany it during reception ceremonies in which local officials and prominent citizens will be invited to sign the "Log of the Twenty Millionth Ford."

The "Log" is to be preserved with the car itself in Greenfield Village, Henry Ford's reproduction of an early American village at Dearborn, Mich. When the Twenty Millionth Ford has completed its tour, the governors of every state and the mayors of other cities will be invited to sign the record of the transcontinental journey.

Leaving Baton Rouge, La., early Friday morning the car will have visited Denham Springs, Hammond, Ponchartraine, Kenner, New Orleans, and Slidell, Louisiana, before arriving in Bay St. Louis.

Bay St. Louis Reception. Arrival of this outstanding car in Bay St. Louis will serve as an event of more than ordinary interest. Messrs. Edwards Bros., and their working associates will be in readiness for the arrival.

A dinner will be given at the Hotel Weston, Friday, at 6:30 P. M. by the Ford Motor Company, at which function Mr. C. D. Hilton, personal representative of Mr. Henry Ford, will be present, as well as the business place and salesroom of Messrs. Edwards, with the public, in addition to a complete line of de luxe models of Ford cars.

Free Moving Pictures. Following the reception ceremony free moving pictures will be presented at the Edwards place of business, beginning at 7:30 and ending at about 10:30 o'clock.

Mr. George H. Edwards, resident representative of the firm, says, "Come, and be with us. We're sure you'll enjoy the evening."

Following the local reception it will resume its journey passing through Pass Christian, Gulfport, Biloxi and Pascagoula, Miss., and Mobile, Fairhope and Bay Minnett, Alabama, to spend Saturday night in the latter city.

The Twenty Millionth Ford was assembled in the presence of Henry and Edsel Ford on April 14 last, and Henry Ford himself drove the car from the assembly line to Greenfield Village where it is now on display. The first Ford produced in 1893 and the Fifteenth Millionth Ford was recorded for future generations in motion pictures.

Since then the car has completed a transcontinental tour from Dearborn to New York and thence to San Francisco and Seattle. A score of states have given the car official license plates bearing the numerals "20,000,000" and the governors and mayors of practically every state and city visited as well as dozens of national notables have signed the log book.

The first Ford, one of the first three automobiles the world had ever seen, almost ludicrous by comparison with its 1931 descendant resembled a buggy mounted on bicycle wheels and its little two cylinder engine boasted four horsepower. Its gasoline tank held three gallons and its uncomfortable seat held two people.

In order to drive it Mr. Ford was given a special license, thus becoming the world's first licensed automobile operator and newspaper accounts of that day revealed that horse traffic was completely demoralized when Mr. Ford chugged noisily down Detroit's cobbled streets at the dizzy speed of nearly 20 miles an hour.

Such was the precursor of the long line of Fords that have since revolutionized the automobile industry, made the automobile a commonplace within the reach of almost every family and tremendously aided the development of good roads systems everywhere.

In December, 1915, more than 1,000,000 Fords had been produced. Thereafter, as a result of the development of Ford manufacturing methods which have since been adopted as standards of efficiency and economy for industry, the production reached 2,000,000 in June, 1917; 5,000,000 in May 1921; 10,000,000 in June, 1924; and 15,000,000 in May, 1927.

XMAS TREE FOR KIDDIES.

Mrs. John N. Stewart's usual generosity and willingness to make the poor happy, is noted in the advertisement of "The Answer," which appears elsewhere in the Echo. A Christmas tree for the poor kiddies is a most generous gesture. More about this tree next week. Watch the ads.

OYSTER SEASON OPENS

Mississippi Gulf Coast Shows Heavy Activity—State Health Officer Tells of Food Value of The Luscious Bivalves

The oyster season along our Mississippi Gulf Coast has opened up with heavy activity, and because of the important place Mississippi holds in this seafood industry, it seems very fitting that we should quote here a recent report from Dr. Felix J. Underwood, State Officer, which relates something of the food value of oysters, and other interesting facts.

"With the coming of cool weather, many people look forward with joy to the appearance of oysters on the menu. This is a seasonal food that has long been looked upon as an appetizer or as an adjunct to a complete meal. However, oysters along with many other kinds of food, have been subject of considerable nutrition research work; the result of which has been to indicate that oysters should be given more consideration as an article of diet because of their food value.

"Oysters contain good quality protein which makes them acceptable as a change for steak, eggs, and other similar protein foods. They are rich in iron, an essential mineral needed in the diet. Nutrition research now shows that this iron is valuable in preventing anemia since iron is one of the essential elements of the fixation of iron in the blood. The iodine content of oysters is vastly higher than that of other fresh foods included in the normal diet. A more general use of oysters would therefore be beneficial in goiter prevention. Oysters also contain vitamins A, C, and D. When eaten raw, the full content of vitamin C is retained.

"To insure the safety of oysters, the Mississippi State Board of Health and health departments in other states, maintain sanitary supervision over the growing, handling, packing, and shipping of oysters. In order that the output of any plant may be accepted for sale or shipment, the plant must possess an unrevoked shipping certificate. To secure this certificate, it is necessary for the plant to comply with rigid sanitary requirements.

SHORT CUT TO COAST DELAYED

Governor Long Willing—Says He Must Wait When Bond Market Is Better—Meeting With Hancock Representatives.

Although no definite action was taken because of the fact, as announced by Governor Huey P. Long, that the state of Louisiana was not yet ready to act on account of the sale of Louisiana bonds being deferred owing to the condition of the bond market, nevertheless all agreed at the meeting Saturday in New Orleans in Governor Long's executive quarters in the Hotel Roosevelt, that the proposed highway short cut from the end of the Rigolets bridge across the swamps to connect the paved highway with the Gulf Coast at Lake Shore, was an improvement not only essential but imperative to the interests of New Orleans and the entire Gulf coast.

Saturday's conference was called by Mayor Walmesley of New Orleans. The meeting was attended by officials of the Mississippi Highway Commission, Mayor T. Semmes Walmesley of New Orleans; officials of Hancock county and other prominent residents of the Mississippi coast. The Mississippi officials reported that their state was ready with the power to push forward the highway work.

After Governor Long explained the necessity for a brief delay, Mayor Walmesley said that New Orleans was highly in favor of the short cut highway as conducive to the best interests of Orleans and the people of the Gulf Coast. It was agreed that serious engineering problems would be involved, and that the construction of the highway and bridge would cost Louisiana approximately $1,800,000. The cost to the state of Mississippi for its end will be about $250,000.

Among those present at the meeting from Mississippi were Chairman William of Philadelphia, Miss; County Attorney E. J. Gex of Bay St. Louis representing Hancock county; Alphonse G. Favre, clerk of Board of Supervisors of Hancock county and clerk of courts; John Regan, resident of Clermont Harbor, Mr. Murray, commissioner of the Highway Commission of the Mississippi Highway Commission.

County Attorney Gex tells The Echo the meeting was one of interest and of harmony, that there was every manifestation that New Orleans and Louisiana was as anxious to have the short-cut auto road as we are, and that Gov. Long says that he always favored the project and still wants it; that the only impediment is the question of bond market.

Mr. Favre was of the same opinion; that Louisiana voiced every interest possible for the success of the project becoming a reality.

VOTES TO BUY BLDG. HOSPITAL

King's Daughters and Sons of Hancock County Vote For Permanent Hospital Building—Directors Meet With Advisory Board

At a joint meeting of members board of directors and members of advisory committee of Hancock County King's Daughters and Sons, it was voted to buy one of two improved pieces of property that had been offered and that the hospital hereafter be housed in its own building and have a permanent location rather than as has been the case.

The property in Carroll avenue, near second, owned by Emilio Cue, possibly better known as the original Otto Sange dwelling, was offered at a price of $3800, of which $2200 is to be paid cash and the balance in notes extending over a period of ten years, if necessary, and bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum.

However, the matter was voted on by ballot, and the balance in the affirmative. Then a second vote, by ballot, was it desired to purchase property? Result, yes. Then of the two places offered, which one to buy? The result was as stated above.

Mrs. A. F. Fournier, State president, came over from New Orleans to be present at this meeting, which was held at the Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. E. Leonard, local chapter president, graciously turned the gavel over to Mrs. Fournier.

The proper procedure will be gone through as soon as practicable and the hospital moved to its new home. This matter has been in abeyance for some time, and members expressed much satisfaction that a decision had been reached.

PLANS TO BEAUTIFY OLD TRAIL

Plans Ready For Old Spanish Trail—Work to Serve As Memorial to the Late Mrs. Adair Ewin, Originator of Project.

Plans have been drawn by Mrs. Ole K. Olsen of New Orleans for the beautification of the Old Spanish Trail along the Mississippi Coast and will be designed as a memorial to the late Mrs. Adair Ewin, originator of the plan and organizer of the four Coast garden clubs.

The layout prepared by Mrs. Olsen provides for a naturalistic park along the beach boulevard, and the average shrubs and trees called for in the plans are of native origin. There ten plans, representing 1,000 feet each, offer different color schemes but a continuity of effect. The Pass Christian Garden Club, under the direction of Mrs. D. G. Rafferty, Chairman of the beautification committee will have charge of the planting from the Bay St. Louis traffic bridge to the east limits of Pass Christian. The Long Beach Garden Club, under the direction of Mrs. Charles McDermis, will look after the entire Long Beach front. The Gulfport Beach front from the western corporation line to the Veterans' Hospital, The Gulfport Garden Club, under Mrs. George P. Money, will direct the work from the Veterans' Hospital to the waterfront. The Ocean Springs front and the newly organized Woman's Club at Pascagoula has pledged assistance in the Pascagoula district. A prize of $25.00 has been offered by Mrs. Rafferty at Pass Christian to the organization which accomplishes the most in beautification work this year.

SHORT CUT TO GULF COAST

(Editorial N. O. Daily States)

MISSISSIPPI and Louisiana representatives met in conference in Gov. Long's quarters Saturday, invited by Mayor Walmesley, to discuss the matter of the long-delayed short cut from New Orleans and the Gulf, and established these facts:

1. Mississippi has the money to build its share of the route and is anxious to begin work at once.

2. Louisiana is for the project but is temporarily embarrassed as respects funds because of the condition of the bond market and its inability to sell bonds advantageously.

3. What Mississippi will have to put up is $250,000.

4. Owing to the more difficult terrain and the bridges to be built on the Louisiana portion of the road, Louisiana will have to spend approximately $1,800,000.

Finally all parties to the conference agreed that the proposed improvement is not only essential but should be carried out with the least possible delay in the interest of the Gulf Coast tourist travel to New Orleans and a larger section of southern Louisiana.

The conference undoubtedly made progress, Mississippi, for a long time unable to co-operate through the failure of its Legislature to finance a State-wide hard-surfaced road program, now is ready to go ahead. Louisiana, which a year ago had ample money, is temporarily short of funds, but has millions in bonds to sell and undoubtedly will be able to do so in a short time and its Highway Commission is committed to the project as soon as they are sold.

So, while the delay is regrettable, there is reason to expect that early next year, in all probability, we shall see ground broken for the short cut, which will reduce the distance to the coast by nearly twenty-five miles and give a tremendous impulse to traffic over the Old Spanish Trail.

PIONEER TIMBER-NAVAL STORES OPERATOR DIES AT HOME IN HANCOCK CO.

EDW. HINES DIES AT CHICAGO

Owner of Former Hines Mill At Kiln and One of Largest Land Owners Passes Away—Death Result of Pneumonia Well-Known Over State

Edward Hines, operator and owner of the former Edward Hines sawmill at Kiln, this county, and one of the largest land owners in Hancock county, died at his home at Evanston, a suburb of Chicago, at a late hour Tuesday evening, and the funeral was held Thursday from St. Mary's church, with interment at Mundelein, where rests the body of a son, Leut. Edward Hines, Jr., who died in France during the world war. At his bedside were his wife, Mrs. Loretta Hines, and their three children, Charles M. and Ralph J. Hines, and Mrs. Howell H. Howard of Dayton, Ohio.

Hines' lumber operations extended internationally and in them he amassed a fortune of several millions. His interest in politics involved him in the investigation of the election of William Lorimer to a seat in the Senate in 1909.

The lumberman was exonerated by the Senate committee, although Lorimer was deprived of his seat. Testimony that Hines had told Clarence S. Funk, an official of the International Harvester Company, that "we have put Lorimer over, although it cost us $100,000," was introduced at the committee's hearing.

Jackson, Dec. 2.—Edward Hines, Chicago lumberman and philanthropist, who died Tuesday, once had holdings in Mississippi valued at $150,000.

Today the holdings of the Hines interests consist of cut-over lands of no great value, A. S. Coody, secretary of the state tax commission, said.

When the land was studded with yellow pine, the Hines interests built railroad lines for freight purposes, and operated a logging road known as the Mississippi Southern for many years. It ran from Lumberton, Lamar county to Kiln in Hancock county, and connected with the G. & S. I. at Maxie.

But as fast as the pine lands were cut, the rails were pulled, and only a vast amount of desolate looking cut-over lands plus a number of abandoned mills, at one time flourishing lumber centers, are left.

It is singular that such men as H. S. Weston, A. J. McLeod and Edward Hines, three men who were the outstanding industrialists and developers of Hancock county, should have passed away within so short a time.

Interesting Meeting And Program Bay P-T. A. For Tuesday, Dec. 8.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Central School will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon, December 8, at 3 P. M.

Miss Mary Edwards will speak on "Children's Books," and a short Christmas program will be given by the 3rd and 4th grades. There will also be an exhibit of the work of the lower grades.

The principal business matter to be decided will be the arrangements regarding the milk. Dr. Shipp has completed the examination of the school children and has compiled a list of thirty-three who are underweight and in need of the daily pint of milk.

Bro. Peter's Xmas Tree Date to Be Announced Later

As per custom, the Christmas tree and doll distribution, and the giving of Christmas baskets to the poor, Bro. Peter, at St. Stanislaus College, will take place as usual, definite date to be announced.

This gracious and thoughtful consideration to the children and poor of the community is sponsored by St. Margaret's Daughters and the Clement R. Bontemps Legion Post of Hancock county.

Private donations, like every year, solicited. Remittances either made to Bro. Peter or to The Sea Coast Echo will be appreciated and duly acknowledged. The Sea Coast Echo has many subscribers living away, many at a great distance. Of these there are many who are willing to send a cash contribution to the cause. It is to these, as well as home folks, we specially appeal.

Following a brief illness, and never fully recovering from a fall he sustained some time back, Albert James McLeod, living eleven miles northwest of Bay St. Louis on the Bay-Kiln highway, passed away Sunday morning, November 29, 1931, at 7:50 o'clock, surrounded by the immediate members of his family.

Although it was known Mr. McLeod had not been well, however, the news of his demise was received as a shock and accompanied with much sorrow, for no man in Hancock county was better known and more universally esteemed.

In his death this section and the county, as a whole, has lost one of its most useful and honored citizens.

The funeral took place Monday afternoon from the late residence, thence to the church of the Annunciation, at Kiln, where the pastor, Rev. Father Denis, conducted the ceremony of the Catholic church.

He paid a splendid tribute to the memory of the deceased, extolled his many virtues, which, indeed, were as numerous as the proverbial sands on the beach or the stars in heaven, and dwelt on the unselfishness of the man who had been a friend to the community; told of his life, how he had lived simply in the most exemplary manner and that such a life should prove an inspiration to others. That he had always been a God-fearing man and that he had passed away, his soul fortified with the last consolation of his church, lay in rest in the family burial plot at Bayou Cocodemo cemetery, here Father Denis conducted the funeral ceremony, consigning the remains from dust back to dust.

Native of South Carolina Born December 21, 1855, at Sulphur, South Carolina, he was a son of Alexander McLeod and of Harriet McLeod. About 1878 he was married to Miss Nancy Elizabeth Johnson. In 1883 he moved to Genyva, Alabama, operating in naval stores manufacture and sawmill industry, his business operations becoming engaged in naval stores operations.

From Big Level he later moved over to Catahoula, Hancock county, and bought out the firm of Leathery & Patterson, and the new firm of Herlihy & Haas was formed, remaining at Catahoula over a period of five years.

It was while at Catahoula that Mr. McLeod lost his first wife, her passing away dating since 1898.

In 1902 Mr. McLeod moved to the place where he last lived and died. It was here that he married, Miss Virginia Haas, during that year, his wife a sister of his business partner. It was here that he actively engaged in the turpentine business, and with success. In 1904 the firm of Herlihy, Haas & McLeod took over the McLeod plant and operated for three years. Later Mr. McLeod took over the plant himself and organized the Jordan River Turpentine Company. This firm operated from 1907 to 1910 when it was closed. Then from 1910 to 1918 Mr. McLeod operated a sawmill in connection with his turpentine enterprise. This mill was closed in 1918. From that time until the time of his death he operated the naval stores business.

Active and Varied Career

At various times Mr. McLeod was engaged in different branches of business as kind of side lines. He was a man of many talents and was alert and his mental faculties were ever alert. He engaged in the cypress tree business for quite a while, and real estate, timbered and wild lands dealings had a special appeal to his sense of business.

Mr. McLeod was a substantial man; quiet, free from ostentation, he was a builder and doer. From 1916 to 1920 he served as a member of the Board of Supervisors, representing his district with marked ability. But eschewing politics he did not choose to run for re-election. He had served his section of the county and its people well and fully and he was entitled to retire, as he wished. This accomplished, he rather that his full time be given to the industrial and agricultural enterprises in which he was so fondly engrossed. He was one of the pioneer peacan orchardists in Hancock county. His place was one of the first and largest in the county and it flourished from an orchard of small plants to large, heavy-bearing trees. Some years ago, realizing the approaching time when he wished to free himself of some of the responsibilities that were beginning to crowd him, he sold this splendid orchard to the "Favret interests at New Orleans, which stands and flourishes today as a monument to his foresight and ability as well as to his well-known spirit of progressiveness.

Mr. McLeod served in various advisory and honorary capacities. He was a delegate to one of the State Democratic conventions of other days, appointed a delegate from

RADIO'S "NATIONAL DISGRACE."

Dr. Lee de Forest, known as the "Father of Broadcasting," is beginning to have some doubts of the honor that the title implies. He has recently given vent to some outspoken opinions regarding the condition of the radio art in the United States.

Because of the fact that many citizens of Hancock county have radios, and are in position to know what the inventor is talking about, it may be interesting to present his remarks in part.

He inveighs against the "cheap vulgarity, insane drive and offensive ballyhoo" of the commercial advertisers and complains that an invention, which he thought "could spread education, culture and pleasure" has been perverted to "the lowest commercial use and its possibilities debased until the family that regularly listens to most of the flapping it exudes runs danger of infection from its diseased vulgarities."

Pointing out that the law of 1927 permits licensing of stations for the "public interest, convenience or necessity" he says the radio commission continues to commend what it calls our "self-supporting" system and licenses "the radio centers of blataney."

On the subject of radio advertising Dr. de Forest says: "Direct advertising is out of place in radio, anyway. . . . Advertising belongs in publications where it can be read or disregarded and where it is not forcibly rammed down the national throat—or ears. The American public has bought more than 20,000,000 radio receivers and is surely entitled to get something from them besides laudations of dog biscuits, time payments on automobiles and disgusting toilet accessories."

We are inclined to think that Dr. de Forest is right in his strictures. So much advertising of a noisome sort is mixed in with most programs that we have ceased to use our own radio to any great extent.

Of course, there are exceptions, as Dr. de Forest points out, where "some decent-minded individual or corporation offers some superlatively good instrumental or orchestral music, or the thoughts of an international figure, and is content with modest credit for the contribution."

The inventor says he will lend his "every ounce of aid" to any group that thinks as he does in an effort to drive commercial advertising off the air."

WHY WORRY ABOUT LIVES?

The people of the United States sit quietly by while thousands of citizens are killed every year on the highways of the land, and take it for granted.

Autos crash, and injured and dead are buried under the wreckage but the investigation, nearly always, says it was an "unavoidable accident." We do not remember an "avoidable" accident in our country for years!

This is a condition which should be corrected, but who is to do it? Should parties in a car crash be expected to prosecute those in the other vehicle? Should prosecuting attorneys, highway patrolmen, or police officers bestir themselves when accidents occur and see who is the party guilty of blame?

If every automobile wreck was rigidly investigated, with the blame assigned to the guilty party, with prompt revocation of driving licenses, there would be fewer accidents, and more lives saved. However, why should we worry about lives in a country that has 120,000,000 people?

Useless statistics: There are 17,500 miles of lighted airways in the United States.

No editor is able to please all his subscribers—it isn't done by the best newspapers.

In case anybody asks you Christmas comes on a Friday, and so does the New Year.

Now that Thanksgiving has passed all that a turkey has to do is to live until Christmas.

Give the average citizen a square meal and he will swear that he had a "wonderful time."

If you don't think there is a depression in the land look up your church finances and see what it failed to collect.

The fight against tuberculosis is helped every year by those who buy Christmas seals. Don't forget to buy your share.

The way the politicians are talking one would believe they think they can do a lot for the "people."

The trouble with cinches is that after a man has one for a few years he thinks he ought to live without working at all.

One of the things that we have no desire to learn is how to escape from a submarine trapped under the seas.

Now that most of the roads are paved the average motorists are hunting for the money to run his automobile.

If there is any product of any importance that has been successfully marketed on a large scale without newspaper advertising we don't happen to know anything about it.

RELIEF IS NEEDED NOW.

IN Houston, Texas, the Unemployment Committee sponsored a campaign to store surplus potatoes and other vegetables for distribution to the poor through the winter months.

In White Plains, New York, professional men have banded together to give legal, medical and dental service to the unemployed.

In Portland, Conn., women are giving volunteer clerical services to local charitable societies. These are some of the ways citizens of the nation are rallying to combat the evils of unemployment, writes Linton B. Swift in the December Rotarian magazine. Mr. Swift is the Executive Secretary of the Family Welfare Association of America, with which are affiliated 238 local agencies that are caring for some 4,000,000 persons this winter.

The emergency is a problem squarely before the business man, Mr. Swift writes, for a return of prosperity is out of the question until the consuming public is again put on an even keel.

Among ways the business men can help, suggests Mr. Swift, are:

1. Doing as many Atlanta, Georgia, business men have done, "sign a declaration of intention," giving insurance to employees that their jobs are safe.
2. "Staggering" or shortening working hours.
3. Long time planning of production and eliminating overtime work.
4. Working through service clubs, chambers of commerce, and other organizations constructively meeting the problem.
5. Developing plans for the care of homeless men and programs of "made" work.
6. Doing extra maintenance and repair work.
7. Contributing to the local emergency relief committee.

"Such an outline of suggestions," he writes, "may sound hard and impersonal. But one has only to sit in the offices of a family society and watch the forlorn men and women file in to realize that these four millions are individuals struggling with tremendous personal problems. And to solve these problems we must begin at the bottom and build up. It is in this planning that the leadership of business men and organizations is essential."

BUY AT HOME—ALWAYS.

"BUY AT HOME" is an empty slogan unless the merchant practices what he preaches and not only sells at fair prices, but through advertising and other means lets his townsmen know they can do as well at home as in the neighboring city.

Such are the conclusions of Paul W. Horn who presents the "pro and con" of community loyalty in the December Rotarian Magazine. He writes: "It seems to be perfectly clear that when all things are equal, it is better to buy your clothes and groceries and hardware and the other things you need from the folks at home. Certainly to discriminate against the folks in your own home town is not wise policy. I would go further to say that if you can do even approximately as well by buying goods from the local merchant, it is well for you to patronize them."

"On the other hand, it behooves the local merchant to see that you can do just as well at home as you can elsewhere. He cannot reasonably expect you to patronize him if by doing so you are making a considerable sacrifice. "For instance, if you are willing to pay fifty dollars for a suit of clothes, it is far better to pay that amount to your local clothier than it is to pay it to the merchant in a distant city, provided, of course, you get a suit that is in every way just as desirable."

"I would go even further and say that I would rather pay fifty-two dollars to the local merchant than to buy the identical article from a man in a different place for fifty dollars. "But, on the other hand, if the local merchant asks me fifty dollars for the suit, and I know that I can buy the identical, same suit in the neighboring city for thirty dollars, I should be very much inclined to pay the thirty dollars. Wouldn't you?"

"And, if the local merchant really can sell me any clothing at as good a price and as good a quality as can anybody else in the world, I think it is up to him to make it perfectly clear to me that he can do so."

And The Echo wishes to emphasize the fact that the argument hereinabove does not only apply to clothing, but to everything.

WHERE GOVERNMENT FAILS.

EVERY once in a while some citizen of Bay St. Louis expresses the view that something is wrong with the government of the United States, Mississippi, Hancock County and Bay St. Louis.

Back in his or her mind will be some pet subject upon which the government, administered by imperfect officials, has made some error, and therefore out comes a sweeping determination of the entire republican form of government.

As a matter of fact, the American system of government is not perfect. It cannot be as long as the power of the voter to control is not reflected in perfect voting, and this is a few centuries away. The defects that appear in any branch of government today are there because of the failure of citizens to express themselves at the polls, or to otherwise show a proper interest in government.

Winter may not be very early this year, but that merely reminds the prophets that when it arrives it will be extra severe.

Merchants who wish to see Christmas goods move might as well see how advertising in The Echo sells merchandise.

Times may be hard, as some people assert, but the man who has made it a habit to live within his income is getting along better than most people.

There is no independence that quite equals the independence of the man on the public payroll, who gets his on the first of the month, regardless of conditions.

VIEWS OF OUR NEWS

By Chicagoan

A Review of the News of Last Week's Echo.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 1st.—To the friends of Capt. J. B. Bachino the Thanksgiving season brings the opportunity to enjoy the "mayor" of Clermont Harbor at his best. This is not only holiday time for this outstanding "railroader" who runs a station where there is none, but it is also the time of the year in which he celebrates the annual forty-ninth anniversary of his birth. So each year the folks who gather are privileged to hear him tell of the holiday celebrations of his youth. Just what the people did in those days to make merry, what kind of gifts they sent each other, what their methods of shopping were, and how they spent the three big days, Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years. Perhaps those earlier days of Captain Bachino's were lived in some far off place. If so their story is doubly interesting. How fine it was for his loved ones to gather at his side, to wish him many, many more, happy "forty-ninth" birthdays, and to listen to him draw upon the experiences of a rich life to recount the interesting tales of the years that have fled.

It would have taken a good story teller indeed to have told a finer story than did The Echo last week when it joyfully published the success of the food package shower sponsored by St. Margaret's Daughters. Those who gave so liberally to that worthy organization did not so merely as a gesture. Their gifts were not for show purposes; they were articles of food that would last for many days; much more fitting, although not so spectacular, than gifts of puddings, cakes or expensive meats. Those who received the boxes distributed from the home of Mrs. C. A. Gordon Wednesday night, had cause to be sincerely thankful that such generosity existed in Bay St. Louis and that there was such an efficient organization ready to put it to its best use.

If the Echo let a cat out of the bag it suspected it might have done when it made the announcement of the coming style show and musicale. It is perfectly safe to assume that the cat was not of a hue that resembled midnight. For cats with bodies covered with black hair are traditionally associated with bad luck. When the ladies of Bay St. Louis listen to the program given under the auspices of the S. J. A. Alumni, they will know for sure that they will know for sure that the good fortune prompted the event. And when they view the elaborate display of ladies robes, furs and wraps, they will be ever so grateful that they learned of the coming presentation in time to prevent them being out of town when it occurred.

With Thanksgiving in the past, Editor Moreau takes immediate advantage of the opportunity to editorially inquire, "How About Christmas?" He looks forward to the greatest of all holidays in the year, and he decides the attitude of those who would make that day of rejoicing and the weeks that precede it less wonderful than they have been in the past.

"It is indeed a poor deluded heart, a breast that lacks warmth and sympathy, to make the remark, as homely as it sounds, that I shall give no presents for Christmas."

Thus did the writer express himself regarding those who have lost confidence in themselves and who stand cravenly before conditions which would have seemed happy ones a few generations ago. Mr. Moreau was writing about Christmas when the goose is supposed to be the favored bird. But he talked "turkey" just the same.

And in another instance The Echo finds continual complaining having undesirable effects. The sing-song of depression, says a contributor, has pushed reality values lower than they should have gone. Crying about high taxes is not the method to employ to bring about political reforms, it is pointed out by this writer, who might have added that a vote on election day is worth a howl afterward.

Not only the members of the Methodist church, but all others in Bay St. Louis as well, are thankful that the Methodist conference at Columbia has seen fit to return Rev. C. C. Clark to the charge he has held for the past three years. That is deduced from the tone of the article in last week's Echo which announced the well received news.

If, at the old time country party in S. J. A. Gym, Joseph O. Mauffray is heard to recite "I'm a greater man than Gunga Din," it won't be because he has the words of that old poem mixed. The cause of the feeling was made plain in the little item last week which announced the arrival of a little girl at the Ludger Mauffray home in Louisiana. The happy grand-mother is perhaps humming too, crooning something about "She's as fair as the flowers in the dell."

There was silence as well as commotion on the Ole Miss campus as Miss Norma Gex and other students prepared for their return to their home for the Thanksgiving holiday. The first long holiday of the college year was certain to produce excitement in those about to enjoy it. But there were others who stood around with folded

BOARD OF MAYOR AND ALDERMEN.

The Board of Mayor and Aldermen held their regular meeting Tuesday, December 1.

The School Trustees were notified that their offices would be declared vacant, if they did not attend meetings regularly.

A special election has been called for January 5th, 1932 to fill the vacancy of Mr. Wm. Rühr, recently deceased.

The board recessed until Dec. 10, in order to canvass the returns of the election on the bond issue to be held in material recently advertised in the Echo.

MEETING OF COAST DIVISION OF THE N. C. C. W.

Special meeting of the Coast Division of the N. C. C. W. was held at Long Beach, November 27, to fill office of president due to the resignation of Mrs. E. J. Lacoste. Mrs. Edw. Carriere of Waveland was elected president unanimously, an honor well deserved.

In accepting office Mrs. Carriere outlined the aims and work of the N. C. C. W. in a very able manner. Those attending from Waveland were, Rev. M. J. Costello, Mrs. J. D. Nix, Mrs. John Moore, Mrs. V. E. Weber, Mrs. H. Zimmerman, Sr., Mrs. O. M. Villers, Mrs. Phil Kammer.

After the meeting refreshments were served by the ladies of Long Beach.

FORCELLE—LEGLISE.

The wedding of Mrs. Antoinette Delcous Leglise, daughter of Mrs. Delcous Daugmont of Waveland to Mr. J. Henry Forcelle, Jr., was quietly celebrated Saturday, A. M., November 21, at an 8 o'clock mass at the St. Louis Cathedral New Orleans, with the Rev. Joseph Thomas officiating, in the presence of members of the immediate family.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Forcelle left on an extended wedding trip and on their return, spent a few days with the bride's mother, Mrs. D. Daugmont in Terrace Avenue.

The following communication, addressed to The Echo, speaks for itself.

Mr. S. Sanford Levy and his family were very unpleasantly surprised upon arriving at their summer home last week-end to find a herd of Waveland cows, craning over their front and side fences, sniffing every plant and shrub within reach. Some particularly handsome specimen plants were so completely spoiled that there was nothing left to do excepting to dig them up and throw them away.

Mr. Levy and his family left Sunday night, feeling very much disgusted, but after considering the matter decided to replace the lovely shrubs which had been devoured by the cows and therefore arrived on the morning of Thanksgiving with a load of new shrubs to set out.

Imagine their consternation when they found that between Monday and Thursday their house had been broken into and burglarized. Many valuable articles were taken by the burglars and Mr. Levy is determined to leave no stone unturned in his efforts to find and convict the guilty party.

Mrs. J. C. Boylan and party of friends were over for the week end.

Mr. Dan Ziegler and nephew Hailey spent a few days visiting friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Keen entertained a house party at their beach home during the past week.

Mrs. V. E. Lizana will give a party at her home in Jeff Davis avenue, Saturday night, Dec. 12, for the benefit of St. Claire's Altar Society. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Dr. C. M. Shipp Is Elected President Tri-County Medical Society

At a regular monthly meeting of the Tri-County Medical Society, composed of physicians and surgeons of Harrison, Stone and Hancock counties, held at Gulfport Wednesday night, Dr. C. M. Shipp, of Bay St. Louis, was honored with the presidency and the honor of presiding at the meeting.

Dr. Ward was also elected as the delegate to the State Medical Society convention. The meeting was largely attended and proved another of those interesting and constructive assemblies of the profession, which is held from time to time in different places of the tri-county territory.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Liversedge Celebrate Silver Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Liversedge, who live on the Pass Christian beach, well-known and prominently connected along the Gulf Coast, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Saturday evening when they invited a number of their friends to a bridge party, only a few suspecting the occasion of the gathering.

Auction bridge was the chief pastime and enjoyment of the evening. The celebration of so unusual an occasion was one that proved of thorough enjoyment. Friends from Pass Christian, Bay St. Louis and elsewhere enjoyed the event. Flowers and congratulations were presented.

Mr. and Mrs. Liversedge were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Lang and Miss Jane Lang in receiving and entertaining.

HELEN HAYES HEADS CAST OF "THE SIN OF MADELON CLAUDET"

Heading the program at the A. & G. Theater starting Sunday, is "The Sin of Madelon Claudet," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's adaptation of the Edward Knoblock stage success, "The Lullaby," with a cast that includes Helen Hayes, Lewis Stone, Neil Hamilton, Robert Young, Cliff Edwards, Jean Hersholt, Marie Prevost, Karen Morley and others.

Miss Hayes, who makes her first appearance on the screen in this picture, is the young actress who recently scored on Broadway in "Petticoat Influence," and previous to that played an enviable reputation for her role in "Cocotte." "What Every Woman Knows," "Dear Brutus" and "Mr. Gilhooley." She portrays the young French girl, Madelon Claudet, who makes a fatal mistake when she elopes to Paris with a young artist and is soon after involved in the scandalous arrest of a jewel thief who has befriended her.

Lewis Stone as Thief

The thief is played by Lewis Stone who makes an abrupt departure in this role from his suave and poised characterization of "Romance" and "Inspiration." It is the first time Stone has played a criminal, the nearest he has ever come to it being a young artist and is soon after involved in the scandalous arrest of a jewel thief who has befriended her.

As the artist who deserts the heroine, Neil Hamilton is cast in a role less sympathetic than those of "Strangers May Kiss" or "This Modern Age," thus giving him an opportunity to prove a hitherto little revealed versatility.

Cliff Edwards and Marie Prevost as a newly married couple who are constantly at each other's throats provide many of the laughs in the picture. Comedy lovers know what to expect of both Edwards and Miss Prevost, who recently scored outstanding portrayals in "Sidewalks of New York" and "Sporting Blood," respectively.

Ye Old Time Party For S. J. A. Gym Fund Presents Entertainment

An old-fashioned gathering, including a supper, was the entertainment given Wednesday night at St. Joseph's Academy gym by the academy alumni, which proved quite a novel event, as both social and financial success. The amount of money realized from the benefit has not as yet been ascertained, but those in charge, at the conclusion of the evening's entertainment, said they were satisfied the amount of money would be larger than ordinarily reported from past numbers of the series of alumni entertainments given for the convent gym fund debt.

Following the supper a number of skits were presented, the old-fashioned Virginia reel, led by Mr. Jos. O. Mauffray and Mrs. Claud Montfry, served as fitting climax. Mr. Mauffray master of ceremonies for the evening, was where Mrs. Monti "dug up" the old-time dress and Uncle Charlie Breath, another "old-timer" led ye old-time string band. Bennie Hill, well-known local singer, singer, gave a number of selections.

The various chorus numbers of old time songs by members of the Alumni served as outstanding features. A number of ladies and gentlemen gave much time and effort to the affair, all of which contributed so materially to make the affair a success.

FORMER NEBRASKAN FINDS PROFIT IN POULTRY ON MISS GULF COAST

Came South to Escape Rigors of Bleak Winter and Capitalizes Warm Southern Sun and Gulf Breezes With Poultry Business Into Success.

By CLARKE B. WILSON

Mr. J. H. Holdeman a former Nebraska contractor and builder, came to Harrison County in 1920 for the purpose of escaping the very cold winters of the North and Northwest. Cold bleak winters were getting on his nerves, and seemed to be getting colder and colder each year.

Taking up an entirely new occupation here, he has built up a good poultry business, producing eggs for hatcheries, fine specimen birds for poultry breeders, and young chickens for broiling and frying. He has a successful business, combined with the privilege of enjoying the warm Southern sun and the balmy Gulf breezes to his heart's content.

More Profit Here.

"I like this warm climate," said Mr. Holdeman. "And for the production of poultry, my hobby and only way of making a living now I like it too. For this, this section has many advantages over the North. Some things, I believe, are a little better up there, but taking it all as a whole, this section is far superior."

"Consider the matter of cost, for instance. Up there, tight, warm houses with artificial heat are required in the winter time. Here a good roof and three sides to a house are all that is necessary. The chickens get the benefit of the open fresh air, which is always as good for chickens as it is for a man. It's much cheaper, and equally as much better. It runs more profit, and finer chickens."

Mr. Holdeman specializes in one breed, the Single Comb Rhode Island Reds, which he raises exclusively. On hand now he has one hundred and twenty-five large beautiful, dark red, laying pullets, ninety equally select hens, thirty-five cocks and cockerels, and two hundred and fifty younger chicks which were hatched in July. They are all fine birds, alike in coloring, and in other particulars, showing that Mr. Holdeman knows his business as a breeder, and that he picked a good country for it.

Further proof is shown in profits, and in the prizes won at the Gulf Coast Fair in Gulfport this year. He took both first and second awards on hens, first and third on cocks, first, second and third on cockerels, the same on pullets, and first and second on hens, with the climax, "sweepstakes," on cocks and cockerels. Practically the same awards were won last year too, and also, the year before. Prizes have been won at the fairs in New Orleans where Mr. Holdeman will be an exhibitor next month.

"I don't go to fairs so much for the purpose of winning awards," said Mr. Holdeman. "I take my birds in order that I may compare them with those of the other fellows. I want to improve my stock all the time. I've got to compare them with others in order to know what I've got. I get the opinions of expert judges at the fairs, who make the awards."

Checks Each Hen

Trap nests, of course, are always used in the production of choice egg-laying birds, but those on the Holdeman place were designed and constructed by Mr. Holdeman himself. That must be because he was once a builder. Anyway, they are quite O. K. and when an egg is taken from one of them, the number found on the hen's leg band is stamped right on the egg shell. Then that number goes on the record sheet hanging on the wall, and into various record books. That's his check on the egg production of each individual hen. Careful inspections of each bird are a check on form, shape, color, weight, rapid growing qualities, and whatever else Mr. Holdeman cares to breed for. Any bird not up to standard is culled out and sold to the poultry houses to be resold for table use.—Mississippi Guide.

ACREAGE LIMIT LAWS MUST BE ENACTED IN JANUARY OR REVOKED

Conference Agrees on Texas Plan as Uniform Law, But Adoption Must Come in At Least Two Additional States.

January 20, 1932 was named as the deadline for the enactment of acreage control legislation by the south-wide conference held in Jackson a few days ago, according to J. C. Holton, Commissioner of Agriculture, who states that the proposed state-wide regulation may go into effect following favorable action in two additional states.

"Assembling at the call of Governors Farnell of Arkansas and Bilbo of Mississippi for the purpose of arriving at a uniform plan of cotton acreage control, the convention, in unanimous accord, accepted without dissenting vote the substance of laws already enacted in Texas, Arkansas and Mississippi as a model for all cotton-growing states.

"The Texas acreage control law, advocated by the conference provides in essence that no farmer may plant in excess of 50 per cent, of his 1931 cultivated acreage in cotton or other soil-depleting crops, excepting rice crops, and seeks to guarantee a 50 per cent reduction in cotton acreage in the several states. Its enforcement is contingent upon enactment by states producing nearly half of the cotton crop.

"Laws prohibiting the planting of any cotton have already been passed in the state of Louisiana and South Carolina and official spokesmen of these states indicated that the uniform plan recommended by the conference would in all likelihood be accepted without delay. For the plan, to become operative states producing 75 per cent of the 1930 cotton crop, or 10.5 million bales, must pass acreage control laws prior to January 20, 1932. Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina produced a total of 8 million bales, leaving 2.3 million bales still unsupported by state laws limiting cotton acreage. Sentiment appears favorable in Oklahoma, Georgia and South Carolina may act in accord, whether favorable or negative, these two states, or either of them in conjunction with Oklahoma, can complete the quota and bring into realization the long-discussed plan for cotton acreage control.

"It is generally recognized that a crop in excess of 10 million bales would be disastrous and the strong sentiment for legal control leads to the belief that the Texas plan, when enacted by the required number of states, will be enforced by popular sentiment and will materially aid in the return of stable cotton prices and prosperity."

CURRENT COMMENT

ENGLAND has laid a fifty per cent duty on imported goods of certain classes, and some are inclined to think that American labor will suffer as a consequence. Others point out that many American manufacturers already maintain factories in England, and that the damage done on this side of the water will be considerable. In any event, Americans having foreign plants are to be congratulated on not putting all their eggs in one basket. If the loss of a good market has to be passed on to the workman, however, there will be no ground for congratulation. He has but one basket.

PAID PART OF DEBT DUE TO DUMB ANIMALS.

A boy is killed by a fall from a ladder, in rescuing his dog from a fire. The dog, if able to climb a ladder, probably would have done as much for the boy. Though no consolation to his parents, it may be remarked by others that, at least, he paid a part of the debt that men owe to dumb animals. The lad's heroism and sacrifice were not wasted on an unworthy object.

TOLL GATES ARE NOT ENTIRELY GONE.

Those who mourn for the good old days and their customs, will be pleased to learn that the toll gate, although robbed of its picturesque quality, has not gone entirely out of existence. The government maintains an effective toll gate at the Panama Canal, the October toll averaging about five thousand dollars for each commercial vessel.

NO EQUITABLE SETTLEMENT WITH CREDITORS POSSIBLE.

Apparatus has been constructed to salvage the cargo of the Lusitania, sunk during the war. The arts of peace may be able to raise the treasure in gold, but there will be no raising, at this time, which will bring back the lost treasure of lives. The arts of war have claimed them permanently, so far as the efforts of men are concerned. When peace is declared, and war goes into bankruptcy, no equitable settlement with creditors is possible.

FAULT OF MOTOR DRIVERS DUE TO HUMAN NATURE AND MAN'S PHYSICAL MAKE-UP.

A report from Connecticut shows that the most serious fault of motor car drivers is failure to give signals, the shortcoming of second importance being errors in backing. The first of these troubles may be traced directly to human nature, since the great majority of human beings do not think much about the other fellow. The second is due to man's physical make-up, and to the training of thousands of years. We have no eyes in the back of our heads, and are schooled to move in the direction in which we are looking.

Three quarters of a fund donated in a large city for the relief of unemployment was in the form of donations running from a thousand dollars to a million dollars, which means that the Republican administration has taken so good care of the rich that they can afford to be generous with the poor whom the administration has created.

The flexibility of the English language, as well as the pitfalls besetting anyone who has to make up copy for the public prints is indicated by a newspaper article headed: "Lloyd George Off Today."

LINDBERGH ENTITLED TO ALL HONOR HE HAS RECEIVED.

In the account of the festivities and conferences involving President Hoover and Prime Minister Grandi of Italy, the name of Col. Lindbergh appears. Sometimes one is inclined to speculate as to why there is room for the Colonel at all times and in all places. Really, all that he has ever done is to fly an airplane, a commonplace task shared with thousands of others. What marks Col. Lindbergh as a great man is the fact that he was able to raise an everyday job to a place of world-wide importance. The farmers who can fly themselves into public notice, and the Colorado

INCONGRUOUS.

Mahatma Gandhi's principles of dress are peculiar, to say the least. He goes frisking around in abbeys and castles and other great places in London attired in nothing except a loin cloth that isn't big enough to wad a shotgun. And then he declares in an interview that the gowns of British ladies at a reception were so immodest that he lowered his eyes in shame. If Brother Gandhi looks like his photographs the eye-lowering certainly was mutual.

Stood On His Rights.

Little Frank while being reprimanded by his teacher for some misdemeanor sat down, leaving her standing. She reminded him that no gentleman should seat himself while the lady with whom he was conversing remained standing. "But this is a lecture," said the youngest, "and I am the audience."

carpenters who can build chicken coops that are worth talking about in Berlin, are few and far between. Mr. Lindbergh is entitled to all the honor that he has received. He is a man who is different from the rest.

BENEFIT CONFERRED BY SKEPTICAL PUBLIC.

A sick person suffering from a protracted siege of hiccoughs, received ten thousand letters telling him what to do to get rid of his malady. It is of no consequence that most of the advice was no good. The real benefit was conferred not upon the sick man, but upon a skeptical public. The average individual is of the opinion that there are not more than ten in the world who would have interest enough in his welfare to write a letter, if hereby he could be saved from hiccoughing his head off.

NICK STRATAKOS DIES FROM HEART ATTACK AT GULFPORT HOME.

Was Resident of Bay St. Louis Years Ago Before Going to Gulfport—Aged 59 Years.

Nick Stratakos, 59 years old, died from a heart attack which he suffered on the street while on his way home at Gulfport this week. He was a native of Sparta but had been a resident of the United States for the past 28 years, coming to the Mississippi coast 30 years ago. He was at one time engaged in the restaurant business but for the past several years served as a deputy sheriff and special pier police officer. He is survived by his wife, three daughters, one son and one brother, Louis Stratakos, Gulfport business man. Interment was held Saturday afternoon.

Nick Stratakos was well-known in Bay St. Louis, residing here several years before moving to Gulfport, going to that city soon after its first rise and growth. He conducted a candy shop on the beach front, near Miss Welch's newstand and gift shop. Even after leaving here he was variously interested in business that brought him frequently to Bay St. Louis. He was well known here.

MISSING TEN DAYS

Biloxi—Charles Horn, aged shoemaker of the eastern section of the city, has been missing for over ten days. Neighbors reported his disappearance to police, but no information has been found as to his whereabouts. It is believed he may have met with foul play.

THE ECHO'S COOKING CLASS

Fruit cake is much improved by time—standing allows the many kinds of fruits and spices to blend together to make a delightful cake. There are two kinds of fruit cake; a dark one which is heavily spiced, made from brown sugar or molasses which adds to the spicy flavor; the white fruit cake is made without spices. The cakes may be baked or steamed according to preference.

Dark Fruit Cake

1 dozen eggs,
1 pound butter,
1 pound sugar,
1 1/2 pound flour,
2 pounds shelled nuts,
1 cup cooking wine,
2 teaspoons cinnamon,
1 teaspoon allspice,
1 pounds raisins,
2 pounds currants,
1 pound citron,
1 pound dates,
1 cup molasses,
1 teaspoon cloves,
2 teaspoons nutmeg,
1 teaspoon soda.

The flour should be slightly browned in the oven before commencing the cake. Cream, sugar and butter, add eggs beaten separately and one pound of the flour—use the other flour to dredge the fruit when added to cake batter. Lastly add soda dissolved in 1 tablespoon of water. Divide in two parts and bake at temperature 275 degrees for two hours.

White Fruit Cake.

1/2 pound butter,
1/2 pound sugar,
6 eggs,
2 cups grated cocoanut,
1/2 pound flour.

1/2 pound citron,
1/2 pound shelled almonds,
1/2 pound shelled pecans,
1 teaspoon baking powder.

Cut citron thin and dredge with extra flour. Cream the sugar and butter and add well beaten eggs. Add the flour sifted with the baking powder and floured fruit. Mix thoroughly. This makes one loaf. Bake in oven 275 degrees for one hour.

Pecan Cake

3-4 pound butter,
7 eggs,
1 pound flour,
1 pound shelled pecans,
2 teaspoons baking powder,
3 teaspoons nutmeg,
1/2 pint of rose water,
1/2 pounds raisins,
1/2 pound citron.
Mix as other fruit cake, bake in angel cake pan in oven 275 degrees for an hour.

Poor Man's Cake.

1-3 cup butter,
1 cup of sugar,
1/2 cup of milk,

2 teaspoons baking powder,
2 eggs,
1/2 teaspoon salt,
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon,
1 cup nuts,
1/2 cup raisins,
2 cups flour,
1 tablespoon cocoa,
1/2 teaspoon mace.
Mix as other cakes. Bake in a loaf for one hour in oven 375 degrees.

The ceremony took place in the drawing room, which was decorated with white chrysanthemums and evergreens. The bride, who was escorted by her father, wore a wedding gown of white satin, close-fitting in princess style, and with the long skirt of rare duchesse lace, worn by the bride's mother at her marriage, finished the bodice and flaring cuffs of similar lace were on the long, tight sleeves. The veil of illusion, worn over the face, was caught to the head in cap effect with orange blossoms. She carried orchids and lilies of the valley.

Fournier, who has moved to New Orleans for the winter, came out from New Orleans Wednesday to attend a special meeting of the King's Daughters, of which she is state president, returning home the same evening. Mrs. Fournier, state president, and Mrs. E. J. Leinhardt, local president, have proven untiring workers, with the associates, in the interest of the local hospital.

Pioneer Timber-Naval Stores Operator Dies At Home in Hancock County

Hancock county to the cotton convention held in Atlanta, Deep Water Convention at Washington, and served on the Seawall Commission from which he was forced to resign on account of ill health.

It was he who opened the Bay-Kiln road and built and established the first ferry ever operated across Jordan River, at his place of residence. Later he was instrumental in building the shelled road forming the Bay-Kiln road and in 1905 built the first telephone line from this city out to his place and finally through to the Kiln.

He was the first rosin and turpentine manufacturer in Hancock county, it is said. Of the many naval stores men and firms who have come and gone since that time Mr. McLeod at the time intervening of his passing away, is the last and only one to have remained, giving employment to 175 men. This he did principally to afford employment to others. Mrs. McLeod, his widow, imbued with the same thoughtful and beautiful spirit, will continue operating the industries at McLeod without interruption.

Mr. McLeod will be missed in more ways than one. He was the poor man's friend. No one was ever turned away from his door, regardless of want or need. He would have given his last penny if it were necessary to alleviate suffering or to succor someone in distress. His charity knew no bounds. Truly a good man has been called. The memory of this good man will live. He lived not in vain. But for a purpose and we well know how well the obligations of that purpose have been fulfilled.

The pall bearers were: Leo W. Seal, George R. Rea, E. J. C. R. D. Love, Capt. Alec Payne, Claud Monti W. A. McDonald, Randolph J. Ladner.

RUN-DOWN and WEAK

"I began taking Cardui when in a weakened, run-down condition," writes Mrs. F. S. Peritt, of Wesson, Miss. "I took one bottle, and I seemed to improve so much that I sent for six bottles. After I had taken the six bottles, I seemed entirely well."

"Before I took Cardui, I was nervous, restless, blue and out of heart. I felt depressed all the time. After I took Cardui, all this disappeared."

"I gave my daughter Cardui and it helped to relieve irregular..."

HANCOCK COUNTY BANKWORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

THIS WEEK END.
BATON ROUGE RED STICKERS GUESTS OF S. J. A.

To begin with the very moment of the Red Stickers' arrival was a cause of rejoicing for the S. J. A. girls, since it procured them an hour off of school on Friday afternoon.

Saturday, however proved the day of great fun. The Baton Rouge and Bay girls piled into trucks and machines and motored over to the Naval Reserve Park in Biloxi, where they spent the afternoon exploring the park and rowing on the Bay.

When the girls returned from Biloxi they were still an hour and a half left before supper time and those who didn't care to rest went to the Moving Picture show.

The Baton Rouge teams left immediately after breakfast Sunday morning and all the girls asserted that they had had a marvelous time. We know we enjoyed having the Red Stickers with us and only hope it will not be long before we have the pleasure of entertaining them again.

GOLD JAYS DEFEAT BATON ROUGE 19-18.

The Gold Jays started out the season with a defeat over the Red Stickers of Baton Rouge 19-18. It will probably rate as the most sensational game of the season. The Red Stickers started out with a fast and copy game, and completely took the Jays by surprise. The Stickers were leading with a score of 13 against the Jays 5 at the end of the first quarter. Not until the last quarter did the Jays seem to realize that a defeat was being handed down to them off hand. They nevertheless were determined to win that game—and win it they did. In the last two minutes of play the Jays turned the tide of the game with a 1 point lead. The Baton Rouge girls called "time out" 18 seconds before the final whistle. The Jays played away the seconds and maintained the 19-18 score in their favor.

RED STICKERS "TURN THE TABLES" ON SATURDAY NIGHT.

The Jays and Red Stickers met again for another game on Saturday night, but this time it was the Red Stickers' turn to score a victory. The Jays fought valiantly but the Red Stickers were also fighting very hard and our little sister Red Jays were unable to make the glorious "comeback" that had given our veteran Gold Jays the victory over the Red Stickers in Friday night's game. The score stood 7-12 in the Red Stickers' favor at the end of the game.

ELECTION OF CHEER LEADERS.

The high school assembled in the gym last Wednesday fore the purpose of electing cheer leaders for 1931-1932. Five names were suggested as candidates by the girls and were submitted for approval. The girls whose names were proposed were as follows: Theresa Linam, Carrie Koenen, Melodia Nix, Joyce Wolf and Effie Graham Power. Three of these girls were to be elected and the voting began. Theresa Linam won the first round of votes; Carrie Koenen the second and Melodia Nix the third.

These girls showed their ability as cheer leaders at our game last Friday and are to be congratulated for the result they obtained. If the Gold Jays' victory of Friday night is a sample of what cheer leaders can help to accomplish, then we say, "Three Cheers for our Cheer Leaders of 1931-32!"

IN SINGING OF BASKETBALL.

We have a great team if it doesn't weaken. We have a first rate team if it doesn't weaken. And if it should close once or twice to lose, we'd still have a great team.

We have a great coach And she won't weaken; We have a first rate coach And she won't weaken. But if she'd ever make Any mistake, We'd still have a great coach.

feated by the S. J. A. Gold Jays 19-18, Stanislaus defeated Holy Cross 13-0—more games than the old Baton Rouge could take in. Thanksgiving is not a week past, a Country Super and Dance sched for Wednesday night and the Christmas holidays are only about 20 days off.

Everyone is simply frantic with mingled emotions of joy, hard work, fear of flunking, week end planning etc. Because, just think, we have already plunged into December and are skimming on toward those precious and long waited for holidays at a great old rate.

I wonder if there is ever more excitement anywhere than at a girls' school at a time like this. Well! anyway, since I don't seem to be able to ever write coherently—I'll sign off and try to be calm and collected for next week—so I can really tell you some news.

In these days when everything is worked automatically, I can't help but imagine how helpful it would be to some of our Seniors and Juniors if a great inventor would discourse: A nose-powder for Ruth. A history-studier for Elizabeth. A hair-waver for Frances V. A short-hand exercise maker for Alice.

A non-hutable football suit for Mary-Ann. A map-book maker for Alma. A letter-answerer for Melodie. A talking machine that talks French for Evelyn. A pair of non-silable shoes for Frances S.

An air-ship that can make the trip to Biloxi in one minute for Catherine B. An English theme-maker for Catherine S.

A hair-comber for Vinc.
